Sirius Computer Solutions Improves Ranking in North America's Top 500 Technology Integrators by CMP Technology's VARBusiness Magazine

Sirius moves from number seventy-eight in 2006 to number seventy-seven in 2007 and outlines growth plans for second half of 2007

San Antonio, TX – July 16, 2007 – Sirius Computer Solutions, Inc., an IBM Premier Business Partner, was recognized in June by CMP Technology's VARBusiness magazine as one of North America's top technology integrators. Sirius placed #77 in the 13th annual VARBusiness 500 ranking.

"While a move up one notch may not seem significant, this year's list looks quite a bit different than it did in 2006," said Harvey Najim, CEO and president at Sirius. "The change in their methodology is very positive, and we are honored to be at #77 in this list of distinguished VARs."

In fact, 113 new companies joined the list this year. VARBusiness removed vendor services arms from the list, opening nearly 40 slots for new companies. With that change, some companies falling off the list and an aggressive year for mergers and acquisitions, the VARBusiness 500 list will have more companies joining than ever before.

In 2006, Sirius made a key strategic move by announcing recapitalization and equity partnership with Thoma Cressey Bravo (November 30, 2007). That partnership set the stage for significant growth in 2007. Early 2007, Sirius acquired IBM Premier Business Partner DyComp (April 30, 2007). By combining aggressive organic growth (with new hires in sales and consulting services) with continued acquisitions, Sirius plans to increase growth capabilities in the remaining months of 2007.

"Aggressive, yes, but also smart," said Joe Mertens, executive vice president at Sirius. "Our customers, and specifically companies that fall into the SMB space, are facing IT challenges that require expertise and experience to solve. We are focused on hiring and acquiring talent to address those tough issues and complement our national teams."

As for moving up the VARBusiness 500 ranking for 2007, Sirius is aiming high. With strong product lines for IBM, NetApp, and other strategic partnerships in addition to the growth strategy, the forecast is for strong double-digit revenue growth.
