Sirius Computer Solutions announces first Hall of Fame winner – Bob McCormick, IBM’s Vice President of Worldwide Sales for the iSeries

Sirius Computer Solutions is pleased to announce the first inductee into the Sirius Hall of Fame. Bob McCormick, IBM’s Vice President of Worldwide Sales for the iSeries was recently awarded this honor at Sirius’ National Sales Kickoff Meeting in San Antonio, Texas. “Bob McCormick is one of the main reasons for our success with IBM. He has been Sirius’ strongest advocate in IBM in the Channels Organization and in the Server Groups. He truly understands our Business Model and our go to market strategy and has recommended Sirius for many pilot programs within IBM,” said Harvey Najim, president and CEO of Sirius Computer Solutions. “Bob is every IBM Business Partner’s friend and advocate. He was our IBM Partnership Executive for many years and has done so much for Sirius – It is now our turn to honor him with this award,” continued Mr. Najim.

Beginning with 2002, Sirius Computer Solutions will elect one or more individuals annually to the Sirius Hall of Fame. This award was created to preserve the history of their company and to honor excellence. While all of the individuals who receive this award in the future will be members of an elite group who made a difference in the history of Sirius, the first person selected will set the bar for all future members of the Sirius Hall of Fame.
