

Gain insight into opportunities in your current business process

Are you unable to identify where your processes are failing? Are you unsure what metrics to use in order to gauge the health of your business? Is your current business process poorly documented? These factors can lead to:

- ♦ Lack of a holistic view into your business process
- ♦ Poor insight into process inefficiencies
- ♦ Inability to properly address failing points
- ♦ A rigid process that depends heavily on manual intervention

Business Process Management (BPM) is of immense interest to business units today. Sirius can help you not only learn how much benefit a BPM initiative would provide, but will also jumpstart your effort by documenting your current business process. Sirius Process to Performance Entry Edition delivers value to many levels to your business organization. The business values you will realize include:

- ♦ Unprecedented visibility into and understanding of your process
- ♦ Identifying opportunities to optimize existing systems, as well as areas in the process that can be automated
- ♦ Proactively identifying business choke points
- ♦ Meeting compliance and documentation requirements
- ♦ Creating new synergy between your business and IT organizations

Sirius Process to Performance Entry Edition provides a complete, tailored solution for analyzing your business or department work. It includes:

- ♦ Gathering of goals and challenges to be considered
- ♦ A business-oriented Process Model showing business or department process as a step-by-step business flow, to help identify points where valuable information can be harvested from your application(s)
- ♦ Identification and analysis of business choke points that are uncovered during the modeling process, enabling the team to focus its efforts on improving the business process
- ♦ A prioritized list of candidates for automation based on what is important to your business, and observation of the current business process

Sirius Process to Performance Entry Edition will model and analyze your business processes and give you the insight to move forward with BPM.
